Donny White and Billy Steber both came out on the short end of 6-5 games for the high school this past week. White was victimized by Methuen and sophomore Steber lost in ten innings to North Andover. The Wildcats did, however, manage to salvage one victory that being 11-6 over Lawrence Vocational. Coach Gilligan sent outfielder Lenny Gustus to the mound in this one and the senior righthander responded by sneaking a lively curve by Voke batters for twelve strikeouts. On Monday of this week Don White and Billy Walls surrendered nine runs while their mates could manage only four, and the Wildcats went down to defeat again.

WHS also lost its final tract meet last week to Tewksbury 66-47. George Phillips won the 220 and Glen Cox the 880 for Wilmington's only two firsts. Coach Muir's boys managed ten second place finishes, however, for a respectable showing.

It was another story in the Merrimack Valley Conference Meet as the locals could manage only two points on the strength of two fifth place finishes by Paul Zaveron in the 100 and Dave Knight in the mile. The team's seventh place finish in the meet was a definite disappointment.

UNRESERVED

Start of construction on the YMCA to serve this area is to begin early this summer. It will certainly be a boon to local recreation.

Well, another group wants a shot at the stadium and John 'Olive Oil' Volpe is listening. Could it be your mouthwash, Monte?

If the ABA can't dig deeply enough to lure Barry, Thurmond, and or Robertson, then its hopes for major league status will be decimated.

This week it was Joe Casey's big bat leading the Charles River softball team (2-0) to a 10-2 victory over Valley News. The Rats added Scrafcch O'Reilly, Eddie Casey and Dick McKenna to their roster further strengthening an already strong team, which will have to play well to beat out Paul Burke's fine National Polychemical club (3-0).

If you're contemplating entering your bark into the America's Cup competition, be advised that your expenses will run close to a million green ones.

Billy Monbouquette has been working out with the Red Sox of late. Wouldn't he be worth a try now that he's resigned to being a reliever. Mombo certainly couldn't be worse than Billy Landis and the ex-Tiger's control, spirit, breaking stuff and physical condition make him a good risk.

With the faculty manager's job up for grabs, it seems that the ideal choice would be Bob Dicey. His love of sports, his enthusiasm and his diligence more than qualify him for the position.

If they drag out the Indianapolis 500 any longer, the new car models will be out before the checkered flag.

Wouldn't it be nice if all little league managers had Marty Flaherty's temperamenet?...For the past two years, Red Sox rookies have been tabbed as best bets to take Rookie-of-the-Year honors off impressive seasons at Toronto. As of now, Joe Foy and Reggie Smith aren't even close to hitting their weights. Its too bad the hot pinch-hitting bats of Jones and Horton can't be worked into the lineup.

Wonder if the Patriots will pull off a deal for a halfback at the pro football meetings this week?...Wondering also whose franchise Vince Lombardi wants to obliterate in parting with his no longer great fullback Jim Taylor. In reparation Vinnie wants only the top draft pick for two years, $60,000 and another player...

WHS had a golf team this year and a league to play in, but apparently forgot to schedule any matches...While on the subject of the high school, it would be a good idea to invest in a set of Tim McAuliffe's heels for football cleats. They virtually eliminate the risk of knee injuries and at a cost of only $2.50 per, seems to be a worthwhile investment.

The annual Booster's banquet will be combined into a general awards night for high schoolers on the evening of June 4.

Planning Board At Quarter Past the Quorum Walked Out

The agenda of the Planning Board for the meeting of Tuesday night showed that the meeting should last one hour and thirty minutes.

But instead of ending about 9:30 it ended at 12:15 am when Mrs McKie announced that she could no longer keep awake, and walked out, leaving Danny Gillis and Austin Rounds to carry on a quorumless discussion of the intricacies of the Sub Division law, with special reference to the signing of 'approval not required' plans.

The particular plan they were discussing had been submitted by Leo Barbo, about 8:30 that evening and involved the sale, in the future, of some land north of Concord St.

Mr Barbo, his brother Charles, and Frank Darden seek to transfer title to some of the land in the latter part of June, and needed a new plan, just for the lot involved. The trouble with the plan, from the Planning Board view, was the statement 'Approval Not Required' which is customary for lots of land on accepted streets, but not for lots of land in subdivisions.

Barbo was willing to put up a bond to guarantee that the street would be completed, but it wasn't quite that simple, and when Mrs McKie walked out, after some twenty minutes of discussion, the problem had not been resolved.

Another plan which the Board was able to resolve was one that had been drawn half a dozen years ago for land off Hillside Way. It showed a 'right of way' named Connolly Road, and three lots of land.

The plan was the property of Albert Crowell, who had bought one of the lots from his father. His brother had bought another, and then sold it to Albert. His father had a house on the third. Albert had a house on his original lot.

All the transfers of real estate had taken place by deed only, and subsequent to the 1955 zoning law. The question was whether the easement on the deeds was more than an easement - i.e. could there be a building permit for a home on the second lot, by calling the 'easement' a street, and secondly, if it was a street, was there enough frontage according to the Zoning By Law.

The board decided that the easement was only an easement, and also that there was not enough frontage. A copy of their decision is to go to the Building Inspector. The letter to Mr Crowell will say that the division of land constitutes a Sub-Division, and that there fore he will have to put in a street which conforms to sub-division standards and regulations.

A party of four persons were present from the Kenwood Ave. area. Of these only Walter McNamara and Mrs Helen Casey spoke, the other two remaining silent.

Arthur Harding, Town Engineer, reported that the developer of the subdivision had said, on advice of attorney, that he did not propose to construct the drain that had been recommended.

Mrs McKie and Chairman Gillis, in discussing the situation, talked about visiting the (state) Department of Commerce for a discussion.

Mrs McKie thought that the town counsel should be the one to do the talking, and not she. She was willing to go along, but she said she would not know the proper questions to ask.

Mrs McKie and Gillis decided that the board had made a decision to 'modify the plan'. But, Gillis said, by the refusal of the developer to accede to the Town Engineer's request 'right now - we are dead'.

They decided to write a letter to the developer, and to the previous developer, asking them to come to make themselves available 'at the earliest possible time' on a Tuesday evening, to discuss the plan.

It was shortly after this that McNamara spoke up to ask if the present plan of the development was now void. Gillis said it wasn't. McNamara wanted to know if the developer had been presented with the 'modified plan'.

Gillis said that he had been, but that 'we have to be exceedingly careful'.

McNamara was pressing for action, and Mrs McKie told him that any action the Planning Board took could be only after they were certain that they were right.

If the Planning Board went to court on this, she told McNamara, and lost, it would not only be adverse to the Planning Board of Wilmington, but to the Planning Boards all over the state.

Gillis and the Town Engineer explained that to modify an accepted plan required the same steps as acceptance of an original plan - advertisements, public hearings, etc, and Gillis added a few comments on the actions of the Mass Builders association in getting laws through the legislature.

Mrs Casey spoke up to say that it was 'a little bit ridiculous' and alleged that the developer could do 'exactly as he wants'. She went on to say that she had been a taxpayer in Wilmington for the past twenty years.

Mrs McKie said it would be foolish to act hastily, and that there was no precedent in the courts that she knew of, on Planning Boards and drainage of land.

Mrs Casey said that there had been one in Bedford, in just the past week, and Mrs McKie said that this was not necessarily true.

McNamara spoke up to say that the developer had 'not exactly' followed the plans, using the words 'not exactly' each time, as he specified sidewalks, streets, drainage, trees, etc.

Testily Gillis told him that they had a letter from the Town Engineer saying that the specifications had been met.

He had, he said, gone over the area with that engineer only three weeks ago, and 'everything was working well'. If there is a flaw in the sidewalk, or of there is a case of trouble with trees, there is still a $600 bond, Gillis said. 'In the eyes of the Planning Board right not, those trees are guaran-

The Coming Track Stars

There's a dozen young fellows over at the West Intermediate School who look like they are going to be the Track Stars of Wilmington High School, in three or four years. Their names: Thomas Breen, Carl Cotter, Mike Esposito, Richard Gillis, Lawrence Harrington, Charles Hembree, William Mardney, Leonard Sawyer, Ernest Taylor, Richard Weed, Gary Whitcomb and Raymond York.

All are eighth graders. You might say they were 'discovered' by John Carr, assistant Varsity Track Coach at Wilmington High.

Part of Carr's duties take him over to the West Intermediate, and he noted that the boys were pretty good in track events, so he asked their parents for permission to have a little more than the regular school athletics. And when Jon Fairfield, former High School track and football star, heard how a couple of the boys could handle the discus he volunteered to help, too.

It was all informal, just the boys having some fun, with a couple of men who understood something about how to participate in track events.

So last Friday Carr, who had two years of working with Freshmen in Medford High School, and knew the value of participating in the 'Freshmen Meets' took the boys to Andover, to participate in a Freshman Meet, there.

It was simply to give the boys a chance to experience such a meet. He had no expectations of what happened.

And what happened was that the boys rose to the competition, and practically took the meet, coming out second to Lawrence Vocational Freshmen.

Generally a dozen or so schools participate in such a Freshman Meet, and generally the winning school has about 18 points.

The meet to which the West Intermediate boys went had thirteen schools competing - Andover, the host; Methuen, Stoneham, Danvers, Swampscott, Winthrop, Chelmsford, North Andover, Keith Academy, Central Catholic, Billerica, Saugus, and then Lawrence Voke and the Wilmington eighth graders.

Lawrence Voke took 30 points, far above the average for such a meet, and Wilmington took 27. There weren't many points left for the other schools to share.

There were over 200 boys in the meet, all Freshmen except for Wilmington's dozen.

Mike Esposito, who is 14, set two meet records. The old record for this meet for the 440 yard dash was 57.0 seconds. Mike did it in 55.0. And the old record for the 75 yard low hurdles was 10.1 seconds, and Mike did it in 9.3.

Carl Cotter set a new record for the Discus, and took First Place. The old record was 113 feet. Carl made a new one of 116 feet 11 in.

Richard Weed tied for first place in the Broad Jump, 17 feet 2 1/2 inches, and William Mardney took second place in the Hundred Yard Dash, 11.3 seconds.

Weed also took a third place in the 220 yard, with a time of 25.9 seconds.

And the Relay team took fourth place, in 1 minute 44 seconds flat. In that team were Richard Weed, Thomas Breen, William Mardney and Charles Hembree.

To top everything off, Mike Esposito was voted the Outstanding Performer of the meet.

School Committee

The School Committee meeting of last Thursday opened with a discussion of plans for the organization of the 1967-8 school year.

Available space throughout the system will be utilized until the new addition to the Woburn Street School is ready to use. Two extra classes will be at the Center School. The Wildwood School will accommodate three extra classes, one in the library and two in the cafetorium. Four classes will meet in the Woburn Street School cafetorium.

The hot lunch menu at both schools will still be offered, with necessary adaptations.

Dorothy Nylan, Principal of the Woburn Street School, and Joanne Myers, Principal of the Wildwood School presented some of their ideas regarding how the larger groups should be handled.

It was their opinion that the situation called for a flexible kind of organization and they were considering cooperative teaching, possibly a team approach. Miss Nylan said that three teachers had attended seminars at the University of Hartford during the spring recess where such techniques had been discussed. They also had been visiting other school systems where similar methods are used.

It was announced in a report from the Permanent Building Committee that John Guarino had been appointed architect for the Shawshen Avenue school. Mr. Guarino has been in the employ of the PBC for several years.

Harold Shea, Supt. of Schools, told the Committee that the plans for the new school would be influenced by the state's efforts to 'phase in kindergartens' and reduce class sizes.

The PBC, Shea said, had rejected bids for repairing the roof at the North Intermediate School. There had been two bids, both higher than the Committee had thought appropriate. However, they did not anticipate any difficulty in securing a bid that would be more to their liking and expected the roof to be ready by September.

A letter, signed by the Wilmington High School Science Show winners, was read thanking the School Committee for providing transportation to the Lowell Technorama.

It had been suggested at a previous meeting in a discussion over next year's calendar that the teachers might like to consider a shorter February vacation in order to have several long weekends. Mrs. Dolores Silva, who represents the teachers, reported to the Committee that approximately 80% of the teachers did not wish to give up any part of their February vacation.

Harold Shea recommended that the committee approve the names in the staff for the Head Start Program, this summer, presented by Harold Driscoll.

The Summer School Program and staff was discussed, and approved.

George Robertie, discussing the purchase of new textbooks, asked whether in the future, a department report could be submitted on textbooks. At present new textbooks are recommended by the heads of departments.

Chamber of Commerce Jottings Wilmington Past, Present & Future

WANTED: AN IDEAL NEIGHBOR

Ever wish you could advertise for the kind of neighbor you want?

It might be interesting to sit down and list all the qualities you believe the ideal neighbor ought to have and then publish it in the newspaper under the heading:

WANTED: ... an Ideal Neighbor! Your list would probably include the following:

1. Friendly, but not nosy.
2. Ready to share but not a borrower.
3. A strong support of modern, efficient schools.
4. Helpful to other people in the neighborhood.
5. One who will bring wealth and prestige to the community.

Some Neighbor!
But before you say, 'They don't make 'em like that anymore' give a thought to this ... It's quite possible that the candidate applying in answer to such an ad might be out-of-town industrial corporations or businesses looking for new communities in which to locate. They don't qualify?

HOW THEY MEASURE UP.

Well, let's take a look at how industries and business in Wilmington measure up to these qualifications of what makes a good neighbor.

1. Friendly ... Wilmington businesses and industries support your community organizations and participate in their activities. How much they earn, and how much they spend is a public record (and they are not nosy enough to ask us to do the same).

Ready to share ... Wilmington businesses and industries are furnishing substantial amounts of money to help the town in planning for the future. College scholarships are offered ... and we don't have to return anything.

3. Supporter of schools ... Wilmington business and industries pay more than 25% of the local costs of supporting our schools.

4. Helpful ... businesses and industries provide many thousands of payroll dollars to residents of Wilmington. They purchase materials and services from local sources.

5. Bring wealth into the community ... besides being major tax payers, industries and business in Wilmington generously support your Wilmington Community Fund which provides contributions for many Wilmington youth organizations, sick and afflicted, and emergency relief for those in need.

6. Successful business and industries attract new business and industry.

It would appear that these are the kind of neighbors who are vital to us ... the kind we don't want to lose.

OFF FOR A WEEKEND AT CAMP SACAJAWETA: Girl Scouts of Troop 87, lined up and ready to board a bus, Saturday for a weekend at the Girl Scout Camp in Boxford. Girl Scouts from Troop 86 were also in the party.

This is Realtor Week

'The time is right to buy a Home' is the theme of the 1967 Realtor Week being celebrated by the over 100 members of the Eastern Middlesex Board of Realtors, President L. Bradley Hutchinson has announced.

In honor of Realtor Week a number of community wide observances have been scheduled as Realtors in this area join with their more than 85,000 colleagues across the nation directing public attention to their calling and the special character of the services they render.

'A Realtor,' says Mr Hutchinson, is a professional in real estate who subscribes to a strict code of ethics as a member of the local and state boards and of the National Association of Real Estate Boards.'

The term REALTOR, which is a coined term and a service mark registered with the US Patent Office under the trademark laws, can be used only by members of the National Association and its local boards. 'Since it is a trademark, it should always be capitalized as are other trademarks or proper nouns'.

In discussing the Code of Ethics Mr Hutchinson continued that 'it was one of the first such codes adopted in the history of American Business. Under its 30 articles, which cover all aspects of real estate transactions, Realtors pledge fair treatment and their total real estate knowledge to both parties of a contract - the buyer and the seller'.

Realtor Week will continue thru

Saturday Mr Hutchinson explained. The slogan this year underscores the resourcefulness of Realtors throughout the nation. For the prospective buyer who is experiencing a little difficulty in securing financing for property, the Realtor can suggest new money sources. For the family which needs more space for growth, the Realtor can find just the home which will fill their needs, both as to size and cost.

'Two thirds of American families own their homes, a proportion virtually unrivaled anywhere in the world,' Mr Hutchinson declared. 'The advantages of home ownership in convenience, in security, and as an investment, are boundless'.

'Our board was founded in 1942. The parent group, the National Association of Real Estate Boards, was founded in 1908,' he said. 'With offices in Washington DC, and Chicago, NAREB furnishes Realtors with the latest information in real estate developments, market conditions, economic trends, and new techniques.'

Your doctor would be surprised...if not insulted...if he was accused of being superstitious, but he really is...to some degree.

Every time he writes a prescription, he continues a bit of mystic practice dating back to the tenth century. It's the Rx symbol he uses. Many people think it's an abbreviation of the Latin word for recipe or compound. But actually it's an invocation to the god Jupiter, a prayer for help in making the treatment work.

In some old medical manuscripts, as a matter of fact, all the R's are crossed for good luck. In good medical practice though, it takes more than crossing your R's. You've got to know your P's and Q's to a 'T' to be a reliable M.D. and to bear all those crosses.

Conscientious doctors are not ashamed of an honest prayer attending their ministrations...for it takes not only application of the remedy, but cooperation of the patient to effect good cures. For quality medicines on all prescriptions you may depend fully on Silver Lake Pharmacy...Free Prescription Delivery...Plenty of Free Parking...Hours: 9 AM to 10 PM Daily..

ROY SYVERTSON, JR IS 1967 CANCER CRUSADE CHAIRMAN

Roy Syvertson, Jr, of Wilmington is the 1967 Cancer Crusade Chairman for Wilmington.

The American Cancer Society reminds Mass. citizens observing Memorial Day, May 30th that memorial contributions offer help to the living in support of vital programs of research, education and service, which one day will conquer a major cause of suffering.

'For many people, memorials give a living expression of our profound sympathy to those who sorrow when cancer claims the life of a loved one. To others, special occasions such as birthdays, anniversaries and other important events such as Memorial Day, are most appropriately commemorated through gifts which will perform lasting service to humanity'.

Memorial contributions to Society may be made to the nearest Cancer Society office.

WALTER H. MARFLEET, SEAMAN USN, COMPLETES NINE WEEKS BASIC TRAINING

Seaman Recruit Walter H. Marfleet, 21, USN, son of Mr and Mrs Albert H. Marfleet of 27 Boutwell St., has been graduated from nine weeks of Naval basic training at the Naval Training Center at Great Lakes, Illinois.

In the first weeks of his naval service he studied military subjects and lived and worked under conditions similar to those he will encounter on his first ship or at his first shore station.

In making the transition from civilian life to Naval service, he received instruction under veteran Navy petty officers. He studied seamanship as well as survival techniques, military drill and other subjects.

PLANNING BOARD (From Pg. 4)

ted'. He went on to explain how the Planning Board looks at the tree regulation, and then finished up by saying that 'We don't want to have to go over these issues time and again'.

The discussion had lasted about twenty minutes.

Gillis went on to discuss the meeting of the Mass Federation of Planning Boards, Region 5A, in Gloucester last week. He had not been able to attend, and had had a note from Sam Snow, former Wilmington planner, who had spoken on Cluster Zoning. Mrs. McKie had been present, and reported that Selectman Jim Miceli of Wilmington was re-elected a Co-Director of Region 5A.

DiCenso Sewer

A letter from the DiCenso Brothers reported the completion of a portion of the sewer which that firm is laying in Northern Industrial Park, near the Woburn line. It requested the release of one of dozen bankbooks he had deposited, in lieu of bonds.

(The firm had deposited bankbooks with a total value of $130 thousand, instead of having their street and sewer projects bonded. The bankbooks are in the town treasury, and serve as bonds.)

The bankbook for which the firm was seeking release was for the value of $3300.

After a long discussion the board decided to write a letter to the Board of Water and Sewer Commissioners, and notify that board that they would be releasing the bankbook in a couple of weeks, if the Water & Sewer Commissioners had no objections.

There was some amusement over the next item discussed. The board had a letter from the Board of Selectmen wanting to know what the Planning Board did about ditches, and in one phrase 'about ditches you know nothing about'.

Gillis reported, with pleasure, that Joseph Ring, of Middlesex Ave., who was a member of the Board of Appeals 30 years ago, had given him a Zoning Map of Wilmington, dated 1936, and that it was 'now officially the property of the Town of Wilmington'.

The map was a large one, over six feet high, on canvas, and folded into leather binders. It was hand colored.

A letter is to be sent to Mr. Ring, signed by all five members, thanking him for the map.

High School Class

Mrs. McKie reported that she had spoken to a High School class in Civics, conducted by Miss Alice LeBauer, and that she thought the class had been very attentive.

Miss LeBauer, she said, had done a very good job in preparing the children.

She had talked at length on Zoning and Planning problems. After asked the class, she said, out of curiosity, as to what kind of town they would like to see Wilmington become.

The consensus was that they would like to see Wilmington become like Reading. Words used by the children, Mrs. McKie said, included 'staid'. They also wanted a movie theatre.

Austin Rounds spoke on the progress of a Relief Map Contest, for Wilmington High students, to make a Relief Map of Wilmington, with prizes to be awarded.

Six students have been enrolled, he said, and he was to see Robert Dicey Wednesday, to complete the details. The competition is open to anyone in the 9th through 12th grades.

Maps

Town Engineer Harding reported that the state Department of Public Works had prepared large detail strip maps, when getting ready for highway construction. There was one for Route 62, with five foot contours, for roughly a mile wide as it went through Wilmington, and there was another for Route 93, with 2 foot contours.

These maps had been prepared photogrammetrically, he said and he had compared the DPW map of the Barrows Well Field area with his own, and found them to coincide remarkably.

Harding said he was getting copies of both maps for the town.

The board spent an hour discussing the Kenwood Avenue problem without any definite decisions.

Speaking of the proposals to have electric wiring underground, Chair man Gillis wondered if he could arrange an informal meeting between the Planning Board and the Reading Electric Light Board.

On a discussion of the Nichols Street Bridge the board wondered why the Selectmen had overlooked the Planning Board's earlier recommendations for connecting Nichols Street with Lake Street. Gillis said he would ask the Selectmen some time.
